SEND EDUCATION PROVISION

ROGUEPLAY
INTERNATIONAL HIGHLY PHYSICAL THEATRE

WHO WE ARE/ WHY WE DO IT

At RoguePlay we are dedicated to providing enriching arts-based experiences specifically designed for individuals with learning difficulties, hearing and visual impairments, from refugee backgrounds and those labelled as having Profound and Multiple Learning Disabilities or Complex Disabilities.

Our team of experienced and friendly teachers understands the unique needs of our participants, creating a supportive and welcoming environment.

We offer distinctive and inclusive opportunities that allow individuals with special educational needs and disabilities to have unique experiences. From sensory-focused workshops, to immersive performance and term-long alternative provision.

The drive behind everything we do is to inspire everyone to be better, healthier, happier and more creative. We are fiercely focused on inspiring young people and creating inclusive and accessible provision.

FLYING HIGH @WMCC

Ever wanted to run away with the circus?

Held onsite at our well equipped, accessible Circus Centre, students will work with RoguePlay's experienced staff to get their feet off the ground using Aerial Silk and Hoop as well as some balance and acro skills on the ground. Specifically tailored to suit student individual need and ability to work with wheelchair users, participants will gain confidence, co-ordination trust and teamwork through their first experience of flying. Ideal for those with high sensory needs and perfect for sensory release through spinning and inverting.

Workshop needs 2 facilitators with a max size of 15 students p/session

SENSORY CIRCUS

This workshop is deeply rooted in a sensory circus approach, using individualised 'stations' to teach fundamental circus techniques including basic acrobatics, jumping, balancing, and improving coordination. Incorporating trust-building and creative activities this workshop is great for body confidence, co-ordination and skills. This workshop takes place at your school/organisation and we provide experienced facilitators.

ALTERNATIVE PROVISION

One day a week for a full term.

We offer a structured Alternative Provision program designed to develop physical skills and explore careers pathways.

We visit your setting one day a week, for a term long experience focusing on circus arts skills and creation, physical theatre and co-creating a performance piece for sharing

We also identify other roles within arts careers, introducing students to costume, set creation, lighting,sound and stage management, getting them thinking about roles other than performing.

Requires 2 facilitators
Max size of 15 students

We tailor the program to the needs of your students, providing a supportive and accessible learning environment. All facilitators are experienced with ASD, ADHD, PMLD and physical disabilities.

Our alternative provision, one day a week will help students with:

Improved body awareness and coordination
Increased confidence and self esteem
Improved collaborative and teamwork skills
Real-life experiences with an insight into the professional arts world.

TEACHER TRAINING

Our bespoke training delivers RoguePlay's unique physical theatre style. Specifically for teachers these sessions focus on the creation of narrative through image making, gesture, basic lifts, throws and contact work. Teachers will experience a wide variety of group and pair exercises to use as starting points for creation, before exploring a variety of pathways those starting points can lead. Teacher packs are provided for follow up work and further exploratory ideas.

TESTIMONIALS

"RoguePlay are a fantastically engaging company who always provide performances that are in-tune with our students. Their value for money cannot be questioned and they remain a company that I fight to have in school as they always strive for the best within the work they do."

Gurd Ubhie

"Thank you for making a group of kids very happy. All of the practitioners were so kind and helpful. It turns out that all the kids were really blooming good at it - there was some seriously impressive shapes being made with the silks and hoops! We love making connections with organisations who place such high importance on inclusivity""

"What a lovely day we had with RoguePlay at the West Midlands Circus Centre. A huge thank you to everyone for having us.

CDLS Foundation UK

"Her eyes have been wide open, alert, she's almost been trying to track you with her eyes when you stood in front of her or she's almost trying to hear where the noise is coming from when you walk next to her and you've been singing. Her eyes have been really wide which is good, because sometimes getting her to open her eyes is really hard."

A Journey Through Change

Explore all four seasons, with each one brought to life through aerial acrobatics, UV light effects, tactile props, and enchanting operatic soundscapes.

Underlying it all is a message of embracing and celebrating change—helping young learners process, accept, and find joy in life's transitions.

Our experienced team champions every child's way of engaging, offering flexible participation, sensory-rich moments (including UV light magic, and a joyful, supportive atmosphere.

Our aerialists are experienced in working with many disabilities and mindful of visual impairments and cognitive visual impairment in particular.

All aerial work is performed low to the ground and close-up, with movements repeated and adapted to suit each learner's needs—making every moment accessible, safe, and engaging for all.

Staff and students are warmly invited to join in, adding their voices and sounds to the performance, making the experience collaborative and inclusive.

"Oscar and Rohan loved it! They were watching in amazement. We don't get that very often."
